Loy Krathong Festival 2014

St Theresa International College held a traditional Loy Krathong Festival on November 6, 2014 from 4.00 p.m. - 8.30 p.m. in the grounds in front of the St Theresa International College.

Helping hands from St Theresa International College

The Thai Red Cross College of Nursing presented certificates of attendance to St Theresa International College students and a lecturer through Ajarn Suwat Benjathammathorn, Vice President for Administrative and Student Affairs. The students and lecturer participated in the Core Leader Project on community services and volunteer work in preparedness for coping with floods.

Then they got the certificates in the disaster management from the training course project which was organized and launched by the Training center 1 for Health Management in the Public Disasters and also was financially supported by the International Federation of Red Cross.

St Theresa students actively engaged in volunteer work

St Theresa International College students and a lecturer recently participated in the Core Leader Project on community relief services and volunteers in preparation for coping with floods.

They got certificates in disaster management from the training course project which was organized by the Thai Red Cross College of Nursing at Bang Looklua Tambon Administrative Organization in Ongkharak district, Nakhon Nayok. The project was launched by the Training center for health management in coping with public disasters and also was financially supported by the International Federation of the Red Cross.

St Theresa students doing internships in Bangkok and in the provinces

Recently, Ajarn Yongyut Khamkong of St Theresa International College visited four students who are having an internship at different organizations and companies in Bangkok, Pathum Thani and Udon Thani province.

Ajarn Youngyth also called on the internship students to check their well-being and talk to their supervisors about the students work performance.

Miss Jirawan Thatwisai (BE) and Miss Teeraporn Pinhirun (IB) are doing internships at the Belgium Embassy in Bangkok; Miss Thipawan Chaigyoyodying (BE) is working as a trainee banker at Krung Thai Bank in Pathum Thani province; and Miss Hathairat Viachalee is working as trainee hotelier at Grand Centara Udon Thani province.

All of them are doing fine and their bosses are happy with their performances. The internship lasts four months and is designed for the students to learn more from hands-on experience and working with professionals in their field of study. Many students work in the future in the company they were once an intern at.

Harmony World Puppet Carnival 2014

St Theresa International College students recently participated in the Harmony World Puppet Carnival, which was organized in Bangkok, Thailand, from November 1-10, 2014.

QAN Activities on Reforestation in a Royal-Initiated Project

Nine students and three Ajarns from St Theresa International College participated in the reforestation activities that were organized by the International Quality Assurance Network (from four institutes) at Laem Pakbia Royal-Initiated Project in the Sirindhorn Environmental Park, Phetburi province, from Nov 27-28, 2014. St Theresa students also won first prize in the waste water and garbage management project contest held there. Congratulations!!
